The shortage of red meat (beef) in our grocery stores is real, but I wonder if it would hardly be noticed if the scare had not caused so many of us to stock up on beef either before it ran out or before the price goes up. I do like to tease my school teacher friends about their their three-month-a-year vacation with pay. This always brings a firey answer and justly so. Most of our teachers deserve far more money than they are getting, even with the pay raise the state is apparently planning to give them. The others don't even deserve to be standing before our youngsters at such a tender age at any price. Maybe as time goes on we will get enough good teachers trained and

Monday I was relating to Owen Ziglar an aggravating situation that happened here earlier in the day. An unknown caller who hung up when asked who was calling, told of city crews cutting trees on property of the father of Council man Ben Carpenter and wouldn't cut trees at the home of this unknown caller. It so happened that Ziglar knew all about the tree cutting on Fred Carpenter's property. Mr. Carpenter had asked him if it could be done, and after looking at the trees, Ziglar worked out with the Light and Water epartment to cut the trees when they had time and Carpenter would pay for the work by the hour. Ziglar stated that if any other citizen wanted this service on the same basis it was available but cautioned that Carpenter had waited three months before the city crews could get to the cut-zens but please show us the courtesy of telling someone jus who is calling. We will never betray a confidence if asked, as many who have sought political office or filed complaints, will tell you. Several times this year we have had to ignore well-written and very timely letters to the editor because of our policy of knowing the writer of all Letters to the Editor we publish.

Dollar Value Of A Housewife

How much is a housewife helped her husband in his plumbing business; in another, because How much is a housewife worth in dollars and cents? This unsentimental question comes up every day in our courtrooms. When warm weather — really warm weather — gets to us, there is one picture that may be more common in people's minds than any other. It is the vision of mothers and housewives arriving home with the groceries. And they've a right to feel bedraggled. Even if the car is air-conditioned, it is a chore to be the family purchasing agent.

And if the kids and the dog have been along, and they are tired from the heat, too — well, let's not discuss that here.

The point is, whoever comes in with these treaters are to sustain the picture of the protected against contamination and heat before you buy them. Fruits and vegetables are often flown in, in refrigerated planes, direct from their growing areas. Supermarkets also buy direct from farmers in your area when things are in season. Better stores spray cool water on vegetables, or protect cares:

Who cares about smoggy skies About empty and polluted lakes. cans and trash littering our country side. About plants and trees dying in our forests. And animals too. Who cares? Woodsy Owl, the Nation's new battler for a clean environment cares. And so should you. Join Woodsy in the fight against

Well, do reward yourself. But be careful, Don't let that food-sit around too long. Food manufacturers and food retailers have worked hard and well to keep your food in good shape up to the time of your buying it. Now it's up to you — and being hot and tired may tempt you to let things go.

Ingerator.

Custard Is Vulnerable

Bakery goods are well packaged and during hotter months many bakeries do not offer custard or cream-filled goods because of their vulnerability to spoilage in hot weather. If you prepare such goods at home, keep them cool.

Mayonnaise and similar dressings are susceptible to summer spoilgo.

I know a milkman who could die when he sees bottles of milk still on doorsteps, long after home delivery, because people aren't up yet. Well, similarly, milk from the store can suffer if you take too long getting it home and under refrigeration. Milk's delicate flavor actually should never be subjected to warmth unnecessarily. Only when actually in use should milk be out of the refrigerator. Meat and fish, too.

Mayonnaise and similar dressings are susceptible to summer spoil-age unless kept consistently cool. Don't apply dressings to salads until just before serving. And since high temperatures encourage germ growth, you should be especially careful in summer if you have a cold or any sort of infection, or a sore on your hands, If you aren't careful in handling food, your chance in summer of passing something on to your family is much greater.
